THE NATION'S NATAL DAY

How the Fourth of July Is Being Celebrated.

Ushered in by the booming of Cannon and the Explosion of Firecrackers and Torpedoes—Exercises by Various Patriotic Societies. Crowds Visit the Nearby Resorts.

The celebration of the anniversary of the birth of the nation which began at midnight last night in Washington was continued unabated efforts today and the enthusiasm exhibited by the celebrants will be continued with renewed vigor, hourly, until the midnight chimes give warning of the Fourth of July 1900 has passed into history. All of Washington that was asleep at midnight was awakened by the boom of cannon, firecrackers, and torpedoes and the millions of the smaller kind of sleep dispeller which were exploded during the first hour of the day.

The observance, however, was not confined solely to noisy demonstrations. Patriotic exercises were held at the Columbia Theatre under the auspices of the Sons of the American Revolution, at which Commissioner Macfarland delivered an oration. The Sons of the Revolution held appropriate exercises at the Church of the Ascension; the Oldest Inhabitants' Association celebration in its time-honored way at the headquarters of the organization; the Foresters Bazaar and the Improved Order of Red Men celebrated the natal day of the nation with a parade on Pennsylvania Avenue and a big powwow at the wigwam on Florida Avenue, near Eleventh Street.

Aside from these special exercises arranged for the celebration of the day, there were a thousand and one other ways in which the residents of the District were reminded, if such reminder were necessary, of the return of the anniversary of the day of all others observed, celebrated, and revered by all Americans.

The small boy, and the little girl, too, for that matter, were much in evidence at an early hour this morning, and the more noise they could make, the happier they were. During the hour which followed the tolling of the midnight bells the patriotic enthusiasm was bubbling over with patriotic enthusiasm. From one end of it to the other the sharp crack of the torpedo and the snap of the firecracker were heard. The scenes enacted upon the Avenue were, in a measure, reproduced on nearly every other street and avenue in the city, and even out in the suburbs.

It, however, did not require the booming of cannon to remind the residents of Washington that this was the anniversary of the birth of the nation. At early dawn Old Glory in streamers and flags was floating from nearly all the business houses along the principal streets and from the windows of private residences in all parts of the city.

The small boy was not at all particular where the firecracker, which he threw from his hand, exploded. Often it happened to fall under the feet of some skittish horse and the more fractious and frightened the animal became the more delighted was the boy. Up to a late hour during the day, however, there were no reports of serious accidents from this cause.

The tournament which took place at Stoneburner's Park, near Arlington, was a decided success and was attended by hundreds of people from this city. After the tournament the knights and their ladies and friends attended a full dress ball given at the pavilion at the park. The bicycle races under the auspices of the Cross Country Club, at the International Athletic Park on the Conduit Road were a centre of attraction for cyclists and the winners were witnessed by large crowds. The trotting races at Brightwood Park were also well attended and the match races proved to be closely contested and interesting.

During the day and evening thousands of Washingtonians took advantage of the holiday and visited some one of the suburban and river resorts. A large number of persons were on their way to Glen Echo Park, where they spent the day and evening, entertained with the vaudeville performances and in viewing the splendid exhibition of fireworks. Immense crowds also left the city during the day bound for Chesapeake Beach to enjoy the display of fireworks and the water sports. The evening, other thousands went to Wildwood, River View, Marshall Hall, Chevy Chase, Cabin John, and Mount Vernon.

CASUALTIES OF THE DAY.

Several Persons Injured by Firecrackers and Toy Cannon.

Harry Zier, ten years old, received treatment at the Casualty Hospital this morning for powder burns about the hands and face. The boy was blowing on a lighted, but supposedly "safer" firecracker, when it exploded in his face. After the injuries were dressed Zier was removed to his home at 11 Fifteenth Street northwest.

Edward Horan, fifty-one years old, was taken to a local hospital this morning with the result that an explosion followed. Horan's hands were lacerated and the little finger of his left hand so badly injured that it was found necessary to amputate it. The physician at the Homeopathic Hospital performed the operation and the sent Horan to his home at 3208 Sherman Avenue.

Eugene Atkins, colored, thirteen years old, of 2228 Eighth Street northwest, was also a patient at Freedman's Hospital for treatment for a badly lacerated hand. Atkins in a moment of foolish bravado held a tinny cracker in his hand and it exploded, and he will now have a constant reminder of his experience.

Valley Cook, colored, fourteen years old, discharged a blank cartridge in a pistol in such close proximity to his face that he received a charge of burning powder in his eyes and cheeks. He is now at the Homeopathic Hospital in serious condition, and it is feared his sight will be impaired. Cook's home is at 1527 Sixth Street northwest.

William Rollins, nine years old, is now convinced that it is dangerous to allow a firecracker to explode in the hand. He attempted the feat this morning, and as a result was removed to the Homeopathic Hospital for treatment. Later he was removed to his home.

Another case treated at the Homeopathic Hospital was that of John Grasty, colored, who had a badly burned and lacerated hand. Grasty held a cannon cracker till it exploded and suffered as a consequence. The injury was not serious, and it was treated Grasty was sent to his home, 203 Brooks Court.

A Pleasant Duty.—"When I know anything worthy of recommendation, I consider it my duty to tell it," says Rev. Jas. Murdoch, of Hamburg, Pa. "Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder has cured me of Catarrh of the bladder. It is certainly magical in its effect. The first application benefited me in five minutes. I could not be without it in five minutes." Fifty cents. Sold by S. Williams, Ninth and F Streets; Edmonds and Williams, Third Street and Pennsylvania Avenue—17.

Comfort is essential to all household enjoyment. Here's the best will give the required comfort. A cool glass of Heurich's with every meal will help the digestion by proper assimilation of the food, thus producing comfort.

A HORSE IN A PARLOR

Have Created in the Ladies' Room of the Ebbitt House.

A Frightened Animal, After Running Away, Dashes Through Plate-Glass Doors, Smashes Mirrors, Chandeliers, and Brice-a-Brac, and Creates a Great Deal of Excitement

The proverbial "bull in the china shop" was emulated about 4:30 o'clock this morning when a horse ran amuck in the ladies' parlor of the Ebbitt House, destroying plate glass, chandeliers, furniture, and brice-a-brac to the estimated value of $400. That more serious damage did not result was due to the fact that the horse was promptly got under control. The animal suffered by his experience, being badly cut by broken glass.

The horse which caused the trouble was one of two attached to the "hurry up" or repair wagon of the Columbia Railway Company. The wagon, with a crew of workmen, was called out from the power-house to make repairs to the railway near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad station. Shortly after the crew began work the horses attached to the wagon became frightened, probably by firecrackers, and dashed up New Jersey Avenue to New York Avenue, then turning west, continued to the corner of Fourteenth Street and New York Avenue, where they turned south, running to F Street, where they fell.

The wagon was not greatly damaged, but the harness was torn to ribbons and one horse, disengaging himself, bolted for the F Street entrance to the ladies' parlor of the Ebbitt House. The swinging glass doors were splintered and almost every article of furniture in the room wrecked. A large plate glass mirror, a handsome chandelier, an electric fan, and other stationary fixtures which lay in the path of the frightened animal were reduced to a pile of debris, to say nothing of the destruction of many valuable pieces of furniture.

Several suggestions were offered as to the best method to be employed for the capture of the animal. The capture of the animal threatened to do greater damage as a rush was made for him and he was subdued by storm.

After the horse had been removed from the parlor it was discovered that he had been badly lacerated about the fore legs, chest and flanks. The wounds were later dressed by a veterinary surgeon.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

But Few Violators of the Law in the Dock.

The dock which greeted Judge Scott when the lower branch of the Police Court convened this morning was by no means a heavy one, and the result was that by 10:15 o'clock the last case had been disposed of. The offenders were of the usual class that makes trouble for the police, and the offences charged were of the ordinary character. There were only three defendants charged with prematurely discharging fireworks and they got off with light penalties.

Prince White, Mary Hawkins, Mary Shepherd, William Washington, James Elson, William McKenzie, Briscoe Taylor, Minor Boyd, and Mary Anderson were all charged with profanity and disorderly conduct. Some entered pleas of guilty and some claimed to be not guilty, but all received sentences ranging from $5 fine or fifteen days to $10 fine or thirty days in the workhouse.

James Blaisdell and Josephine Allen were the only prisoners charged with vagrancy. Both claimed to be not guilty, but could not substantiate their pleas. Blaisdell was sent down for sixty days, while the Allen woman got off with a thirty-day sentence.

Matthew Pleasant, colored, was charged with setting off a firecracker more than three and one-half inches in length. He denied his guilt and was sent down for fifteen days, in default of payment of a fine of $5.

Alexander Jackson and Benjamin Tubman denied that they set off firecrackers last night as charged. Both were released on their personal bonds.

George Payne was ordered to pay a fine of $1 because he was alleged to have fired a revolver.

IT SAVED HIS LEG.

P. A. Danforth, of La Grange, Ga., suffered for six months with a frightful running sore on his leg, but when the Borden's Anker-Pain-Expeller was used it cured it in five days. For ulcers, wounds, piles it's the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cents. Sold by Henry Evans, Druggist, 222 F Street.

The physicians at Georgetown Hospital stated that while Boyd was painfully and seriously injured he suffered no broken bones. The most serious injury is a sprain of the left shoulder.

Little Bit of a Fire.

The explosion of a naphtha street lamp caused a slight stir in Phillips court, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth and M and N Streets northwest, about 4 o'clock this morning. A resident of the court feared a fire would result in a hotel alarm in which Thrift B Company responded. The only damage, which was to the lamp, amounted to about $2.00.
